

A Min Tjoa
Full Professor
Vienna University of Technology
Director of the Institute for Software Technology and Interactive Systems

A Min Tjoa is full professor at the Vienna University of Technology and director of the Institute for Software Technology and Interactive Systems. His main research interests are in Business Intelligence, Semantic Web, IT Security and Environmental Informatics. He was guest professor at the University of Zurich, the Technical University in Lausanne, Czech technical University in Prague, National Institute of Informatics (Tokyo) and the University of Kyushu. Since 2008 he has been the Austrian delegate of the Committee of Science and Technology Development (CSTD) of the United Nations. Since 2008 he has been the chairman of the Austrian National Competence Center for Excellent Technologies in the field of IT-Security. Since 2012 he has been member of the Executive Committee and Honorary Secretary (2013-2016). He is the Vice-President of Infoterm (International Information Center for Terminology). He is currently member of the Council of Doctoral Studies in Mathematics, Informatics and Telecommunication (Conseil de l' Ecole Doctorate Mathématique, Informatique et Telecommunications de Toulouse) which covers all universities in the Toulouse area in France. He has the Honorary Doctoral degree (Doctor Honoris Causa) from the Czech University of Technology in Prague and Honorary Professor title from Hue University, Vietnam. He has published more than 200 peer reviewed articles in journals and conferences.