

Gregory Neven
Research Staff Member
IMB Research – Zurich

Dr. Gregory Neven is a research scientist at IBM Research – Zurich focusing on provably secure cryptography, privacy, and policy languages. Gregory holds a PhD in applied sciences (2004) and a Master of Engineering in computer science (2000) from Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, and has worked as a visiting researcher at University of California, San Diego and at Ecole Normale Supérieure. He published over 40 research papers and patents in the field of cryptography and information security, several of which appeared in top-ranking conferences and journals.

