

Dr Jorge Lopez Hernandez-Ardieta
Head of Cybersecurity Research Group
Indra

Dr. Jorge Lopez Hernandez-Ardieta holds a B.Sc. and M.Sc. in Computer Engineering from the University Autonoma of Madrid, and a Ph.D. in Computer Science from the University Carlos III of Madrid. Dr. Lopez is the Head of the Cybersecurity Research Group at Indra (Spain), where he leads research and innovation in Cybersecurity and Cyber Defence. He is also member of the Board that defines and implements the strategy for the Cybersecurity Business Unit world-wide. In addition, he is Part Time Professor and Affiliate Researcher in the Computer Security Lab (COSEC) at the University Carlos III of Madrid. He participates in standardisation efforts and high-level consultancy activities at international level, being a member of work groups in the European Defence Agency, NATO Industrial Advisory Group, ISO/IEC (Chairman of Spanish Work Group Security evaluation, testing and specification), the European Committee for Standardization CEN, the European Organisation for Security EOS and IEEE.

