

Carlos Gómez Muñoz

Ministerio de Hacienda y Administraciones Públicas (MINHAP)

Carlos Gómez has an Industrial Engineering degree from Polytechnic University of Madrid, and a MBA from IESE. Before joining the Spanish National Administration as a civil servant, he has worked for more than 15 years in the private sector, occupying different positions related to information systems and organisational transformation. His experience in the private sector includes assignments in IT consulting firms, start-up companies, and telecommunications operators.

Currently he acts as a Head of Unit in the Directorate for ICT in the Spanish Ministry of Finance and Public Administrations, participating in different e-government initiatives, especially in the European context. He coordinates the participation of the Ministry in the STORK 2.0 project, and he is also a member of the expert group working in the implementation of the eIDAS regulation.
